

Courses

More information on these courses is available in the Careers Department.

These are the kinds of courses that will, I hope, help students to decide what they wish to do after they leave RGS. They will also provide evidence of interest in their chosen university subject/career.

Be aware though that there is quite an industry being built up around courses like these. Do not feel that you need to pay out huge sums of money for them. There are free taster courses in many career/degree areas at London universities being advertised from January.

It is entirely up to parents and their sons/daughters to book places on courses. Some courses will fill up quickly.

RGS cannot take any responsibility for the welfare of pupils on these courses. The school is merely making you aware of their existence.

If the course takes place during school time, students must ask the permission of their head of section and Miss Arthur prior to booking.

Taster Courses

Places are available on taster courses in and around London. These are allocated on a first-come first-served basis for the majority of the taster courses so please apply as soon as possible by following the relevant link below or via the website www.london.ac.uk/tasters.

The university taster courses provide a great opportunity for prospective students to try university and a specific subject area before they apply. Most of the university taster courses last a day and are all free to attend.

London University Taster Days Programme,

These are free one day courses at London universities in a really wide range of subject areas.

The courses available, their dates and application procedure can all be found on www.london.ac.uk/tasters

Free 60 minute interactive webinars in which Year 12 and Year 13 students hear from and talk to 3 different universities.

To kick off our insight4me and right4me webinar programme this term, on 3rd October, 3 universities will each address the following hot political question: 'To what extent has the location of sovereignty in the UK political system changed in recent years?'

Please click on the link below for full details.

October 3 @ 14:35-15:35 insight4me Politics: The Location Of Sovereignty In The UK Political System – 3 Unis in 1 Hour including University of Leicester and Goldsmiths, University of London

The Autumn Programme:In our free 60 minute interactive webinars Year 12 and Year 13 students hear from and talk to 3 different universities about:

- an A Level question/topic in a particular subject area, getting 3 expert opinions on the key issues whilst also hearing how this would be taught at university, assisting their choices for 2019/2020 (insight4me).
- their courses in a particular subject area, helping them to make comparisons and start to consider the questions they need to ask in order to make the right choice for 2019/2020 (right4me).

Please see the right4me and insight4me programme below. Students take part as a group either in front of a whiteboard or a laptop, depending on the size of the group, and we will work with your IT to make sure everything is ready for the event.

- October 3 @ 14:35-15:35 insight4me Politics
- October 9 @ 12:45-13:45 right4me Law
